My Dream Is Yours

This collection is aimed firmly at “Dreamy Romantics”, and that might have been a better title because it is probably an accurate description of most, if not all, of the music. There are times when all of us just want to relax and allow pleasant, tuneful and relaxing melodies to soothe away the cares of the day: to use the current parlance – to ‘chill out’. Hopefully the orchestras of light music masters such as Percy Faith, Robert Farnon, David Rose, Mantovani, Paul Weston and George Melachrino will apply their usual magic. But some new names to the ‘Guild family of conductors’ can be spotted this time, and it is good to welcome Americans Archie Bleyer and Carl Cotner, plus Parisian Armand Bernard and that British Light Music Master Max Jaffa, whose famous Trio (with cellist Reginald Kilbey and pianist Jack Byfield) was a permanent feature of the music scene in the UK for over 30 years. Irving Berlin wrote “they say that falling in love is wonderful” and it is to be hoped that these lyrics have been reflected throughout all the music on this CD. GLCD 5209  7 95754 52092 7

Invitation To The Dance

Eric Coates, the famous English composer of Light Music, once observed: “my marches aren’t intended for marching and my waltzes aren’t meant for waltzing”. This oft repeated quote is not an entirely accurate description of everything he composed, but it does indicate that marches and waltzes (especially the latter) have provided inspiration for many composers who simply decided that they should be listened to rather than danced. This applies to a good number of the titles on this CD, although there are also many where the intention is definitely in favour of active participation, rather than purely passive listening. It will also be noted that a few numbers are not strictly dances, but somewhere in their titles the word ‘dance’ or ‘dancing’ appears, clearly suggesting what the composer had in mind. Tripping the ‘light fantastic’ are some of the world’s finest light orchestras, such as Dolf van der Linden, Morton Gould, David Rose, Percy Faith, Werner Müller and - playing the title music - Mantovani. GLCD 5210  7 95754 52102 3
