100 Greatest American Light Orchestras - Vol. 2

Guild's tribute to the Greatest American Light Orchestras continues with another selection of well-known names leavened with some of the equally good but less familiar ones. Thus, among the 25 orchestras featured here, we find Xavier Cugat and Leroy Anderson rubbing shoulders with Walter Scharf and Frank Hunter. The music is equally varied, ranging from Percy Faith's amazing virtuoso performance of La Cucaracha to The New York Philhamonic Pops playing Skitch Henderson's majestic arrangement of Charles Trenet's La Mer.

The Runaway Rocking Horse & Other Library Lollipops

Guild's previous collections of "Library" music from British music publishers have proved popular providing a mixture of titles, some of which have become well-known through their use in Radio and Television programmes, and others which have probably never been used since they were published. Why is a mystery because many of these were written by the same composers and were often as good (and sometimes better) than the famous ones. This collection comprises 25 tracks from 11 of the major British publishers' libraries and the highlight is the title track, The Runaway Rocking Horse which is presented here in its complete version - many recordings omit the introduction and part of the centre section.

A Carol Symphony - Music For The Festive Season

Guild's first two collections of music for the Festive Season have proved surprisingly popular and there have been numerous requests for more. Although some of the carols featured here are on the previous collections, none of the recordings are. The highlight is Victor Hely-Hutchinson's "Carol Symphony", a 1927 work which weaves Adeste Fideles, God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen, The Coventry Carol and Here We Come A Wassailing into a charming musical celebration of Christmas. Nine of the tracks come from one of the finest ever Christmas albums, Music For A Merry Christmas, recorded by Frank Chacksfield in 1959, and never before available on CD. The three other tracks from this album may be found on Guild GLCD 5222. Da libor Brázda debuts on Guild with a superb version of Les Patineurs and the collection is completed with recordings by Billy Vaughn and Stanley Black.
